Part 9

In this part, we will neaten up the Octagon by adding a bit of solidity... A little path all the way around the meadow we have created so far.

My testers all agreed that this was a very relaxing part :)

This round will bulge slightly between Pineapples. Don't worry about it. Also, I am so sorry! There will be A LOT of counting in this round.

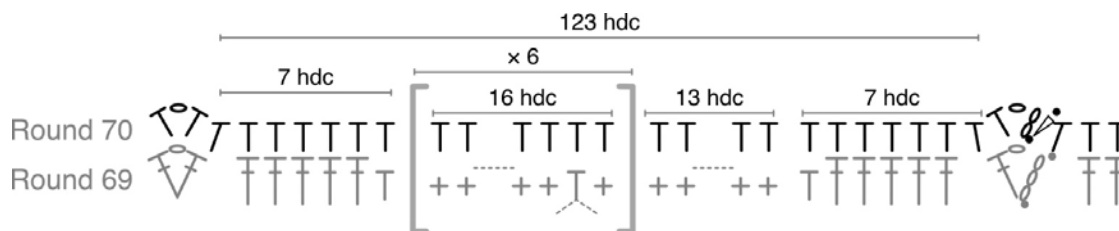

Tester's Tip: "If you want landmarks, here are the stitches that will land in the 'weird joining hdc's': 22, 38, 54, 70, 86, 102. So the 22nd hdc of the side (not including the corner hdc), then every 16th hdc until there are 21 sts left before the corner sp." – Kay Crone and Susanne van der Wal

A close-up photograph of a crocheted triangular piece, likely a corner of a bag or a decorative element. The piece features a color gradient: a wide cream-colored border at the top, followed by a band of purple, then a large section of grey, and finally a row of yellow-green at the bottom. The background is a dark, textured surface.
